

Lumpy's Loops

Saturday, 18 August 2007

Wow, can you even believe how perfect the weather has been lately? I'm starting to think that the scorching hot summer might pass us by completely. With the exception of a few real sweltering days here and there, we've really had it easy so far. Hopefully I don't jinx the whole thing! I'm sure everyone has noticed the wood chip tree wells these are not only to define the course but also to save on water and make the course a little harder. Once again I would like to ask for everyone help in fixing ball marks picking up broken tees and filling divots

Thanks For noticing the changes.
